

LABOR CONTROL BILL BECOMES LAW

SENATE GIVES BOOST TO U. S.
NAVY BUDGETFIGHTING FLEET OF
SOME 850 CRAFT
ASSURED

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The Senate appropriations committee today voted $3,462,000,000 in new money for the Navy in the year starting July 1. Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said it will give the nation "a powerful, well-balanced fighting fleet" of some 850 craft.

The sum is $176,500,000 more than the House approved. But Saltonstall, chairman of a subcommittee which considered the funds, said that $161,000,000 in old unused appropriations for other purposes were cancelled. Thus, he said, the net increase in usable funds is only $15,500,000.

With the $3,462,000,000 grant, which must still receive Senate approval, the committee served notice that it expects the Navy to keep a tight watch on expenditures—both of new funds and those carried over from previous years.

"The committee expects that the Navy will administer its programs so that the expenditures in fiscal 1948 will not exceed $4,105,000,000," the committee's report said.

Fulfills Truman Request
Saltonstall told reporters that the committee's action permits operation of the same number of ships requested by President Truman in his budget recommendations.

Also, he said, it substantially fulfills Mr. Truman's requests for men and planes.

The president had asked $3,663,000,000. The House had approved only $3,285,500,000.

The Senate committee's bill, Saltonstall explained, would give the Navy a strength of 395,000 enlisted men and 43,000 officers; an active fleet of 293 combat ships, and 5,793 aircraft not counting reserve training planes.

This is 40,000 more men and 4,000 more officers, 24 more combat ships and 232 more aircraft than allowed by the House bill.

The Senate bill, Saltonstall continued, would permit operation of 4 battleships, 11 large aircraft carriers, 9 small carriers, 12 heavy cruisers, 20 light cruisers, 135 destroyers, 24 destroyer escorts and 78 submarines.

It would also keep in service 149 amphibious craft, 55 mine vessels, 54 patrol ships, 275 auxiliary ships and 24 floating dry-docks.

The committee voted funds for 348,471 civilian employees in the Navy department, compared with 343,304 approved by the House and 371,300 requested by Mr. Truman. Many of these employees work in Navy yards and other shore establishments.

Priest Says Russia
Had Atomic Plant
But It Exploded

Chico, Calif., June 23 (AP)—The Chico Record today published a copyrighted interview with Father Bernard Hubbard in which the noted geologist and explorer declared that Russia had an atomic energy plant a year ago but that it blew up because of the Russians' "lack of know-how."

Hubbard, head of the geological department of Santa Clara university, declined to disclose the source of his information. He is visiting a brother near here after completing a seven-month world tour.

He said the blast killed several scientists and caused devastation over a wide area.

SHIP BLOWS UP AT LOS ANGELES—The tanker 'Markay' in the foreground, and the American President line's pier, rear, were consumed by fire following a mysterious blast aboard the 'Markay' in Los Angeles harbor. Two bodies were recovered, and 12 more are missing after the $10,000,000 blaze.

TOURIST SEASON
MAY GET BLOWRationing Of Gasoline
Foreseen By Fall,
Rep. Shafer Says

BY JOHN CHADWICK
AP Special Washington Service
Washington, June 23 (AP)—Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) said today in warning of a gasoline shortage that already "Standard Oil has notified one big distributor in Michigan it will receive no shipments of gasoline in July or August."

"There is very likely to be rationing of gasoline in the fall throughout the country," he told the House.

He said present indications are that a "good many" filling stations in Michigan will be forced to close this summer. If they are, he added, the state's hope for a record tourist season is likely to be dashed.

The office of Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said the National Transit Corp., of Detroit has been notified that Standard Oil of Indiana will be unable to furnish it with tank cars of gasoline in July and possibly other summer months.

The Detroit company, which operates a truck fleet, wrote Ferguson it understands that other oil companies have sent out similar notices. It said "excessive demand" was the principal reason given.

New Trial Granted
Convicted Killer
Of State Trooper

Monroe, Mich., June 23 (AP)—Alcide (Frenchy) Benoit, sentenced to life imprisonment in the sensational 1937 slaying of a state trooper, won a new trial today.

Circuit Judge Clayton Golden ordered the retrial on grounds that Benoit was not advised of his constitutional rights by Judge Arthur Rathbun of Adrian, the sentencing magistrate.

It was Judge Rathbun who was reversed by the United States Supreme Court in the trial-biasing Rene de Meerleer case in which a life termer gained a new trial as a victim of Michigan's "speedy justice."

Benoit pleaded guilty to first degree murder in the slaying of a decade ago of Trooper Richard Harmon, whose body was found handcuffed to a post after he had picked Benoit up on a traffic violation charge.

Drifts Claim Three
Lives In Montana;
Midwest Rain Ends

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least two days' respite from rain was predicted Monday night for the midwest flood area.

A government forecaster at Chicago said that the storm which cloaked the northern areas during the weekend, causing 13 deaths, had moved into Canada above Lake Superior.

Sunday's snowstorm piled drifts 15 feet deep at Beartooth pass between Yellowstone Park and Red Lodge, Mont., and trapped three persons who died. At least 15 persons were drowned in a dawn surge of water which inundated Cambridge, Nebr.

Railroad schedules were disrupted in the flood area as rains of cloudburst proportions undermined hundreds of miles of tracks, and swept into rivers and streams already swollen far out of their banks.

Tanker Fire Causes
$10,000,000 Damage;
9 Persons Missing

Wilmington, Calif., June 23 (AP)—Recovery of two bodies from the smoldering bulk of the SS Markay today brought to four the toll of known dead in Los Angeles harbor's $10,000,000 explosion and fire.

Chief Engineer Jack Sims of the Markay identified the two men as Harold C. Link, 19, oiler, Molalla, Ore., and William Nelson Walters, third assistant engineer, McMinnville, Ore.

Sims said all of the engineering force had now been accounted for except George Hodar, 32, Douglas, Ariz. He expressed belief nine others missing were amidships, where the explosion occurred.

An object which searchers earlier had believed to be a body was found to be a bundle of clothing.

Meantime Coast Guard officers predicted a full scale investigation would be made soon by a "major disaster" board of the Merchant Marine.

L. L. Lishman, port captain for the Union Oil Co. and a veteran tanker man, said "it is readily evident the explosion was touched off far inside the ship, from the manner in which it split the ship open." The vessel was halved early yesterday by a series of three blasts and only the bow and the stern are visible above water.

The 11,083 ton tanker carried 2,940,000 gallons of fuel. Jack Malseed, manager of the Shell Oil terminal here, said the cargo included 320,000 gallons of aviation and automobile gasoline and that the remainder was Diesel and stove oil.

A large area of the harbor in the vicinity of the blast today was a blackened and twisted mass of wreckage. Five shipping berths have been destroyed and another damaged. The heat from the blaze, which at its height, blazed 12 miles at sea, blistered the huge oil storage tanks lining the inlet. Water sprouts atop the tanks were believed to have prevented a second "Texas City disaster."

Neshan Krikorian, 53, and his wife, Takouchi, delatedly told them they came across the rotting corpse Sunday afternoon while picking grape leaves.

With Krikorian as their guide, eight carloads of top ranking officers and newspapermen sped toward suburban Northville, scene of the discovery.

Among the route they talked two state police detectives into joining the entourage.

Sheriff's officers, both their recent murders unsolved, also went along.

At Haggerty road the cavalcade drew to a halt. Chief of Detectives Jack Harvill led a glum procession on foot through underbrush in a gulley to the cardboard box.

He anxiously pried off the lid, pawed away some papers. Then he got into more and more papers, with a little rubbish thrown in, until he had reached the bottom. Still nothing but papers.

Thoughts of another clueless rumber began to fade and smiles began break along the line behind Harvill. Then an audible chuckle relieved the tension and the officers began backing away.

Landlord Kills Two Noisy Tenants, Gets
Long Prison Term

San Francisco, June 23 (AP)—Jacob Watson, 63-year-old landlord who shot two of his tenants to death because "they made too damn much noise," was sentenced today to prison for five years to life.

The former Watsonville rancher—who told police after the shooting "I'm not a bit sorry"—pleaded guilty of second degree murder.

Watson shot Harold Collins, 40, and Estelle Lincoln, 33, Feb. 17 and declared, "I'll bet it's quiet out there this morning."

FLOODS LEAVE
RUIN IN IOWAWEEK END BRINGS TORNADO WINDS,
HEAVY RAINS

Des Moines, June 23 (AP)—A new series of floods created a steadily lengthening trail of destruction in Iowa tonight following a weekend of high winds and torrential rains ranging up to 6½ inches.

Fort Dodge, a city of 23,000 in north central Iowa, was without power or water. Upwards of 500 persons were temporarily homeless there after the upper Des Moines river hit record high levels.

The river was receding slightly there tonight.

Tornado winds destroyed arm buildings near Algona, Barnum, Burt and Carroll—all in northwest Iowa.

Flash floods caused temporary evacuations and damage in a dozen Iowa towns including Carroll, Harlan, Cherokee, Manning, Audubon, Rockwell City and Red Oak.

Although skies cleared in western Iowa today and a two-day respite from rain was forecast for the state, points downstream along the Des Moines river in central Iowa and on the Nishnabotna in southwestern Iowa were preparing for their third flood in as many weeks.

Train service on the main lines of several Chicago to West Coast routes, was seriously disrupted throughout western Iowa.

Heaviest crop and property damage from yesterday's rains came in the northwestern Iowa sector which largely had escaped the heavy downpours which struck the remainder of the state earlier this month.

At Rock Island, Ill., meanwhile, District Army Engineer Col. W. N. Leaf said damage of more than $25,000,000 was caused in Iowa by the previous floods.

DISASTER IN NEBRASKA

Cambridge, Neb., June 23 (AP)—High water following flash floods and tornadoes which already have taken 16 lives in Nebraska boiled downstream tonight and threatened new areas with inundation.

Danger spots, widely scattered, included Ewing in northeast Nebraska, Gibbon in central Nebraska, Auburn in southeast Nebraska and Ashland and Columbus in eastern Nebraska. Each was threatened or partially flooded by streams swollen by yesterday's torrential rains.

For the fourth time this year Salt Creek flooded a low-lying part of Ashland. Two churches in which refugees of last week's Ashland flood were fed and housed until Saturday night were opened up again.

As in most of the state, the Ashland flood ended some farmers' hopes of raising a 1947 crop. Land flooded several times and replanted again will not be in shape in time to assure an adequately long growing season.

Meanwhile the body of Mrs. Retha Maynor was found here, bringing to nine the number of bodies recovered after yesterday's flash flood. The rapid drainoff of flood waters facilitated the search for bodies of four others known to have drowned.

At Oxford, Neb., Mrs. Louise Lueking, 26, was killed in a tornado. At Miller, Neb., Gene Lloyd and Leora Tieda drowned when their car struck a highway.

CONTROLS BACK
ON OIL EXPORTS

Steps Taken To Protect Limited Domestic Supply In U.S.A.

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The Commerce Department announced tonight that controls will be reimposed on export of gasoline and other petroleum products to all foreign countries except Canada, effective June 30.

"Export control is necessary if the limited domestic supply is to be protected and U. S. petroleum exports are to be used most effectively in the interest of world recovery," said the department's office of international OIT.

The announcement, made after consultation with other government agencies including the interior department, the army and navy, plainly anticipated that congress will authorize extension of authority to restrict exports.

This authority, exercised by OIT, will expire June 30 under present law. If there is no extension, the newly announced controls can last only 24 hours, officials said.

The controls, applied through licensing of foreign shipments, will apply to these petroleum products:

"All motor fuels, including gasoline and aviation gasoline; kerosene, gas, oil and distillate fuel oil; residual fuel oil; and blending agents of petroleum origin."

Forty-two drivers who normally man 23 buses, the city's only major means of transportation, remained away from their jobs.

Russia Joins
In European Revival Talk

BY JOSEPH E. DYNAN

Paris, June 23 (AP)—Hopes for a revival of Europe's economy soared tonight as the foreign ministers of Britain, France and Russia made a date to meet in Paris next Friday to discuss the American offer of aid in continental reconstruction.

The French government expressed "lively satisfaction" with Russia's agreement to examine the Marshall program. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons in London that he "welcomed" Russia's acceptance of a British-French invitation to the conference, and that "I hope good results will follow."

Most diplomatic authorities in Washington adopted a wary "wait-and-see" attitude, but a spokesman for the U. S. state department said Russia's acceptance was "encouraging."

The date for the meeting was suggested by Russia, in her reply today to notes from France and Britain. The French then made the date official by sending out invitations for the opening of discussions Friday.

The Soviet reply said it was "self evident" that the task of rehabilitating Europe's economy would be expedited if assistance "were rendered by the United States, whose production potentialities, far from declining, increased during the war."

The office of French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault declared France would be "happy on this occasion to welcome Messrs. Bevin and Molotov."

This was an indication that Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov himself would attend the meeting. Soviet sources in London also said Molotov "almost certainly" would lead the Russian delegation.

Authoritative informants in Moscow said they were pleased that Russia had decided to attend, but cautioned that this acceptance did not mean necessarily that Russia would participate in a European-wide recovery program.

Official Russian publications attacked the Marshall plan last week as "dollar diplomacy" and an extension of the Truman policy of aid to Greece and Turkey.

Official quarters here waited with great interest for the Soviet delegation list, as a possible indication of how deeply the Russians will be prepared to examine the ideas expressed by U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall in his recent speech at Harvard university.

Most Paris newspapers hailed Moscow's note as a sign that Russia, faced with a showdown, did not want Europe and the world divided into two blocs—at least not without an effort to bridge the gap.

Auditor General Muri K. Aten said he had agreed with Budget Director John A. Perkins to ask the state administrative board to transfer for the probes $20,000 in unspent payroll appropriations for Attorney General Eugene F. Black's office. Normally such a surplus would revert to the general fund June 30, but Aten said it could be committed and held over into the next fiscal year.

Black said $25,000 of the sum would be earmarked for the grand juries in Genesee county and Detroit, and possibly others, and $5,000 for the prison inquiry.

He previously indicated $10,000 would be needed for the Detroit investigation of new car sales by used car dealers and $3,500 for a similar probe in Genesee county.

Previously, Black had expressed fear that the Detroit grand jury, now under way, might have to be suspended July 1 until money would be obtained from the "little legislature." A request to the "little legislature," or emergency appropriations commission now will not be necessary, Black said.

Finding Of Bugs
Siegel's Murderer
May Be Tough Job

Beverly Hills, Calif., June 23 (AP)—A district attorney's aide suggested today that the job of finding the slayer of Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel, man-about-Hollywood, gambler and one-time public enemy, might be a tough one.

Said S. Ernest Roll, chief deputy district attorney, following a conference with police:

"Frankly, it's going to be a hard job to get to the bottom of this thing. There might have been a hundred different people who wanted Siegel out of the way."

The dapper, 42-year-old Bugsy was shot to death about midnight Friday, as he sat reading a newspaper in the home of a friend, Virginia Hill, heiress now in Paris. With him was Allen Smiley, sportsman, who dove to the floor at the first sound of the shooting and escaped unhurt.

The extent of Siegel's enterprises was known, apparently, only to the underworld. A friend said he controlled completely the making of race books in Southern California. He was a stockholder in the Flamingo, one of Las Vegas' best known gambling clubs.

Thomas E. Dewey, when he was district attorney of New York, had named him a public enemy.

DRAFT BOARDS THANKED

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Congress officially gave its thanks today to the approximately 200,000 citizens who served without compensation in the nation's 6,443 local selective service boards.

The Senate passed and sent to the president a resolution publicly acknowledging the nation's gratitude for their patriotic service.

STRIKE CURBS
ADOPTED OVER
TRUMAN VETOUNIONS WILL FIGHT
SHACKLES VOTED BY CONGRESS

(By The Associated Press)
Washington, June 23 (AP)—The Taft-Hartley labor bill became the law of the land today.

The Senate overrode President Truman's veto and his all-out opposition, 68 to 25.

This was six votes more than the required two-thirds majority—more than the bill's supporters had expected.

And the chamber spurned a final appeal which the President sent by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) two hours before the roll call.

The President insisted that "this dangerous legislation" will hurt our national unity and so "render a distinct disservice not only to this nation but to the world."

Setback For President
Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told the tense Senate just before it voted, however, that the GOP Congress would "be held delinquent" if it failed to pass the bill. He shouted that "unions today are big business" and "should have the same responsibility as corporations."

The outcome was Mr. Truman's sharpest setback at the hands of the Republican-controlled Congress, elected last November.

It was a tremendous victory for Taft, widely mentioned as a possible GOP presidential candidate next year. Taft sponsored the bill with Rep. Hartley (R-N.J.).

The Senate showdown found 20 Democrats going along with 43 Republicans to override, for upholding the President and three Republicans—Senators Langer (ND), Malone (Nev.) and Morse (Ore.).

The full strength of the Senate was on hand for the historic ballot with the exceptions of Senator Wagner (D-NY), ill in New York; Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), and who is in Geneva; and Senator Bilbo (D-Miss), who has not taken the oath.

Repeat Campaign Promised
Wagner, father of the labor relations act bearing his name, sent a message from his sickbed which the clerk read just before the roll call. He called upon his colleagues to uphold the veto and concluded:

"The President would not lie at this critical moment in history."

This apparently was a reference to the arguments of Taft and Hartley. They had said that some of the President's statements were "not so" and "false."

No sooner had the vote been taken and the bill passed than William Green, president of the AFL, promised "an immediate campaign" for its repeal. His statement said that "labor will never become reconciled" to it.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, called a meeting of its executive board for Friday to map its course.

Just as quickly, Gerhard P. Van Arkel, general counsel of the National Labor Relations board, resigned. He expressed "grave doubts concerning both the workability and the fairness" of the act. The law creates a new post of general counsel with broader duties and $12,000 salary compared with $10,000.

Among the cities to receive new buildings in this year's program are Ann Arbor, Cadillac, Charlevoix, Fenton, Oxford, Reed City and Birmingham. Major additions are to be made to buildings in Pontiac, Royal Oak, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Bay City, Clare, Grand Rapids, Hillsdale, Ironwood, New Buffalo, Niles, Petoskey, St. Ignace and Traverse City.

An addition in Detroit is to cost $1,500,000. For new telephone instruments Michigan Bell has earmarked $10,675,000.

Lacy said the company plans to provide service to 20,000 new subscribers in rural areas this year and to extend mobile service throughout the southern part of the Lower Peninsula.

He emphasized that the planned construction was contingent upon an uninterrupted flow of materials and equipment.

Girl, 10, Is Drowned

Ypsilanti, Mich., June 23 (AP)—Authorities today dragged the Huron river in search of the body of 49-year-old Edgar Griffin, who drowned Sunday while a University of Michigan student rescued his two companions.

Griffin, custodian of the Ypsilanti city hall and police department, was drowned after a canoe overturned as he, James Whitfield, 22, and Mrs. Louise Whitfield, 25, were fishing. All three are Negroes.

Donald R. Johnson, 23-year-old university student from Flint, Mich., rescued Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield but was unable to locate Griffin's body.

Delta's Equalized Value Placed At $25,311,041

The Delta county board of supervisors in annual equalization meeting yesterday set the total equalized value of taxable property in the county at $25,311,041. This total is $531,083 below last year's figure set by the state tax commission.

It is the first time in the past three years that the report of the equalization committee has been received with unanimous approval.

In 1945 Supervisor Peter N. Logan of Escanaba voted against accepting the committee's report and later appealed to the state tax commission to equalize values between the townships and cities.

Then last year (1946) the state tax commission was called in by Earl Paquin, then supervisor of Escanaba township.

Last fall the Delta county board of supervisors approved appointment of a special valuation study committee in an effort to bring about better understanding and a more uniform and equitable

GIRL RUN OVER BY AUTOMOBILE

Carol Tallman Sustains Leg Fracture Early Sunday Morning

Carol Tallman, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tallman, 30 North 15th street, sustained a fracture of the right leg early Sunday morning when she was struck by an automobile driven by her boy friend, Joseph Klotz, 21, Wells, on North seventh street. The accident occurred at two a. m.

Local police yesterday questioned Klotz and the girl, who is in St. Francis hospital, concerning the mishap.

According to the information received by the police, Miss Tallman and Klotz quarreled and the girl left the automobile, which had been parked on First avenue north. The girl apparently fell down on South seventh street and Klotz ran over her. Klotz told police that a fuse blew out on his car just as he had rounded the corner and that he did not see the girl lying on the street. Klotz picked up the girl and drove her to St. Francis hospital.

Three Speakers At Kiwanis Club

Three brief talks and reports by various committees featured the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Sherman hotel yesterday noon.

Dr. Charles Fisher, director of the extension department of the University of Michigan, said that the university is planning to expand its services to the people of the Upper Peninsula. Emphasis will be placed on adult education, he said.

George Best, Iron Mountain, lieutenant governor of the Upper Peninsula district, talked on plans for the Kiwanis International convention to be held soon in Chicago.

Col. John M. Bartella of Washington, D. C., reviewed briefly some of the activities of the Army Air Force in the Pacific theatre during the war. He is now attached to the transportation division of the Army Air Force at the national capital. Colonel Bartella explained some of the procedure following in dispatching economic and political missions by airplane to Greece, Russia and other foreign countries.

Joseph Guckey, superintendent of the Stephenson public schools, and Herbert Corey, banker, will speak on Stephenson's community planning program at the next meeting of the Kiwanis club.

VOTE TO SELL COUNTY BONDS

Will Be Required To Pay Delta's Cost-share In Sanatorium

The sale of approximately $13,500 of Pinecrest sanatorium bonds, held by Delta county and received when Iron county purchased a one-quarter share in the sanatorium a number of years ago, was approved yesterday by the Delta county board of supervisors.

The sale of the bonds will be necessary if the county is to meet its share of the maintenance cost of the sanatorium, now owned by Delta, Menominee, Dickinson and Iron counties. The sanatorium committee of the Delta county board reported that the cost to the county for the coming fiscal year 1947-48 had been advanced from $6,000 to $7,500.

Each of the four counties has been asked to appropriate $7,500 this year.

The board referred to the finance committee the matter of supervising the sale of the bonds to cover the appropriation.

Other business before the board yesterday included the following: Received the resignation of A. T. Solberg of Gladstone from the social welfare board, and appointed Vincent Johnson of Gladstone as his successor.

Olson Is Recaptured; Confesses Trusty Gave Him Blade To Cut Bars

Vernal LeRoy Olson, 17, who saved his way out of the Delta county jail June 18, was recaptured yesterday morning at 8:50 o'clock by Sheriff William Miron and Deputy Emil Johnson.

Olson confessed that he had hidden himself for five days, and that on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights he had burglarized three Escanaba business places.

He also told the sheriff that Harry Boak, 27, of Charlevoix, who had been given trusty privileges at the jail where he was held on an illegitimacy charge, had supplied him with a hacksaw blade to saw through the bars of his cell door. The day Olson escaped Boak was questioned and confined to a cell, although the sheriff said that Boak denied aiding Olson.

Saw Beer Bottles

Sheriff Miron and Deputy Johnson were conducting a search for Olson in the vicinity of the North Western railroad overpass of US-241 in North Escanaba when they saw two bottles of beer beneath the track of the overpass.

Crawling down beneath the track through a narrow hole to investigate still further, Deputy Johnson saw Olson's feet sticking out of a narrow hiding place on the steel girders of the overpass. Olson was unarmed and gave himself up without resisting.

An intensive search for Olson has been made by sheriff's officers, state police, and city police for the five days since he escaped. The sheriff said that Olson confessed that he hid during the daylight hours and moved about at night. He escaped from jail about daylight last Wednesday, and hid in the jackpine woods north of the ore docks. On other days, he told the sheriff, he stayed in the woods or crawled into his hiding place within the North Western railroad overpass, and one day hid in the lumber piles at Wells.

Three Burglaries

The confession to the sheriff included a statement that on Thursday night Olson had entered Nelson's store on Sheridan road and had stolen 35 cents in cash and food. Saturday night he came out of hiding to break into Chaffield Machine and Foundry company's office, broke open the cash register and stole 85 cents. On Sunday night Olson is reported to have confessed that he entered the Rose Park store in North Escanaba and stole three bottles of beer. It was these bottles seen at the entrance of Olson's hiding place that resulted in his recapture.

With the stolen money Olson purchased, through a number of 10 and 11-year-old North Escanaba boys, food to sustain him during his hiding. The names of the boys were obtained from Olson and the sheriff said he believed the boys were afraid to reveal Olson's hiding place, although they knew who he was.

Olson appeared dirty, dejected and weary when arrested by the officers. He answered questions freely, and confessed to the sheriff that Boak, the trusty, had brought him the hacksaw blade at 8:45 p. m. Tuesday. Where Boak got the blade has not been determined by the officers, although the sheriff believes he may have stolen it from a number of blades used by workmen on the court house addition project adjacent to the jail.

Waiting for Boak

The sheriff said that Olson told him he was staying in the vicinity of Escanaba waiting for Boak, and that the two planned then to go to Charlevoix. Boak was to be arraigned in circuit court July 7 and would probably have been given a probation term.

In July, 1946, Olson was given a two-year probation term for breaking and entering the Breitbach store in Escanaba. This spring following the arrest of George Shields of Escanaba on a breaking and entering charge, Olson was implicated in a series of breaking and enterings in the city. Shields confessed to being his accomplice in one.

Olson confessed to breaking and entering four places late last winter, and driving away four automobiles. He was held in jail under $6,000 bond on the eight charges for circuit court trial at the time of his escape.

The youth, who will be 18 years old July 6, faces three additional breaking and entering charges committed since he broke jail last Wednesday; plus a charge of jailbreak. No charge has yet been made against Boak, but he will probably be charged with aiding in Olson's escape.

Yesterday the sheriff had

POLICE CHECK ARMED HOLDUP

Four Negroes Rob Rayne
LaMarch Of $30
Early Monday

Rayne LaMarsh, 1801 Third avenue north, was robbed of about $31 by four negroes who held him up at the point of a gun as he was driving away from the Welcome hotel, 331 Stephenson avenue, at 12:40 a. m. Monday, he reported to local police.

LaMarsh reported that the negroes stopped him and requested information on how to reach highway US-41. Later one of the negroes asked LaMarsh for change and when he replied that he had none, the negro produced a gun and asked for LaMarsh's wallet, according to the police report. The negro took between $31 and $32 from the wallet before returning it to LaMarsh and then drove away. LaMarsh reported the incident to local police at 1:10 a. m. He said that he did not know which way the negroes went, but that one of the men had mentioned going to Negau-nee.

The police searched the carnival grounds, lunch rooms, etc. and checked with all the negroes employed at the John Jones carnival. LaMarsh was unable to identify any of them.

Police also checked with the Ward shows which played at Iron Mountain last week and learned that several negroes employed by that carnival company had driven to Escanaba Saturday night. One of them had not returned to the company yesterday and he is being sought for questioning.

Concession Space Is Being Leased For Festival Here

The leasing of concessions privileges for the Hiawathaland festival days, July 3, 4, 5 and 6, has begun, according to Albin Carlson, chairman of the concessions committee.

Mr. Carlson revealed that the city council, because of the importance of the festival to Escanaba, has turned over the concessions privileges to the Hiawathaland festival committee, and that committee would treat them in accordance with the terms of the city ordinance covering concessions.

It is planned to allow concessions on the Ludington street side of the Municipal dock area where all of the activities of the festival, which do not take place at the high school stadium, will be held.

All people interested in obtaining concessions for the festival period, are requested to contact Mr. Carlson at Festival headquarters, 710 Ludington street, or phone 1100 or 2374-M.

UMT Issue Postponed

THE issue of universal military training in the United States apparently will be sidetracked by congress until next year. Sentiment in congress favors postponement of the universal training bill until a clearer picture of the world peace situation can be obtained.

Military conscription in peacetime is not compatible with American tradition, but if the world peace outlook fails to brighten in the months immediately ahead, there will undoubtedly be more general support for universal training in this country than today.

It is not imperative that the issue be acted upon at the present session of congress. The system of volunteer military enlistments is being tested to determine whether it will recruit sufficient men to meet our military requirements. Thus far the volunteer system seems to be working adequately. Assuredly the men who are joining the army and navy voluntarily are potentially better soldiers and sailors than men who would be forced into uniform under a compulsory military service law.

If the need for expansion of our armed services develops in the months ahead, the only logical answer, of course, would be adoption of a universal training law. That will depend upon whether the world peace outlook brightens or darkens within the next six months.

In the meantime, it is important that emphasis continue to be placed upon the need for volunteers in the military services and in the organized reserves.

Russia Desires Cooperation?

ACCORDING to an editorial in Pravda, official Soviet publication, Russia desires to cooperate peacefully with other nations, regardless of differences in economic systems.

But while Russia talks about cooperation, her entire foreign policy is geared to obstruct every united effort to reconstruct Europe. Russia's program is one designed only to benefit Russia and to expand Communist influences throughout the world. Russia gives lip service only to world cooperation.

Communism's most fertile soil is unrest and confusion. For that reason, Russia's objectives in world affairs are directly opposite to the principles for which the United Nations was dedicated.

Pravda's editorial was prompted by the joint British-French invitation to Russia to participate in conferences designed to implement the American plan for rebuilding the war shattered European economy, although the Russian newspaper made no direct mention of the Marshall plan.

Russia's attitude on German reparations and on proposals to write an equitable peace treaty with Germany, together with Russia's insistence upon generous use of the veto authority in the United Nations shows conclusively how Russia declines to enter into the spirit of world cooperation, even though she professes cooperation in state-sponsored editorials and radio broadcasts.

Adult Education

STATE aid for adult education in the year ahead has been denied because of the state's financial predicament. Funds from local tax sources will not be available either for maintenance of the adult education classes. The only recourse then, if the adult classes are to be continued, is for the persons who take the courses to pay fees sufficiently large to meet the overhead.

Escanaba's adult education classes in the 1946-47 school year constituted the broadest program in adult education ever attempted here. Most of the cost was borne through state grants.

A decision on whether adult education classes will be continued in Escanaba in the ensuing year will depend upon whether there are enough persons interested in attending the classes to the extent that they are willing to pay the cost of operating the program. In any event, only those classes with the maximum of public appeal can survive.

Too Many Suckers

STATE officials conducting an investigation of black market deals in new automobiles in Detroit and Flint have been promised cooperation from many new and used car dealers, as well as from automobile manufacturers, who are anxious to expose the racket for their own protection.

There would be no black market in automobiles except for the fact that too many people are willing to do business with the racketeers. Any person who is willing to pay a premium of several hundred dollars for a new car bought at a used car lot is simply a sucker. Unfortunately, there are many such people in this country today.

The black market in new cars is not confined to Michigan, by any means. The sheriff of Milwaukee has been involved in a series of such transactions and reports from all over the country show the same story—new cars being sold on used car lots at tremendous prices.

Other Editorial Comments

ALWAYS FRANK
(Marquette Mining Journal)

Mr. Sigler may make mistakes during his direction of the ship of state, but he never will be known as an "of the record" Governor. Whenever he has appeared before a group to discuss state affairs he has done so with utter frankness and there has been no secrecy.

Recently, responding to an invitation to address Michigan editors at their conference at Higgins Lake, the Governor accused Lieut. Gov. Eugene Keyes of playing politics and said his legislative program had been obstructed by a few senators. As for Keyes, Mr. Sigler said, bluntly, that gentleman had "attempted in every move during the legislative session to stifle the administration's program." Sigler added: "He didn't even come to my office, except for special meetings. I told him he ought to quit playing politics and, for the sake of the public, pay attention to his office."

The editors recognized the Governor's words as a "hot" story, but assumed he was talking "off the record," which has been the custom of most governors under such circumstances. So they asked him if he was talking for publication and he said: "You are free to quote any part of it."

Newspaper men like that kind of performance by public officials and they believe the rank and file of voters like it, too.

MIDWEST AND WEST
(Duluth News-Tribune)

Lines under a picture of Henry A. Wallace giving a press interview in Washington describe him as having "a hand cocked in his vest in typical midwest fashion." That regionalism, the picture shows, is the standard, perhaps the only way of performing that folksy gesture—by hooking the thumb in the armpole of the vest.

But this may be the beginning of a tradition. All interviewers will expect it of middle westerners and shrewd ones won't disappoint them. The films will seize on this convenient label for a middle westerner and we must choose between complying and disappointing the tourists. It may save the vest from oblivion.

So it goes. The film and book industries study the types of mankind, and those types study the films and books to see what is expected of them. We have our part to play, as midwesterners, and a little coaching, even from someone in Washington, will help.

FOSTER IS RIGHT
(Marquette Mining Journal)

Cedric Foster, whose daily radio broadcasts on Mutual are heard by many thousands of persons and who addressed a large audience in Marquette last week, minced no words in warning that the United States is in danger, that its enemy is Communism and that Communism is an insidious foe.

He is sound in his contention that although our schools could be effective weapons against this foe, they are likely to become a means of Red propagation unless we pay teachers of our children "wages commensurate with their responsibilities." There is no doubt Communism can best be combated by education and the place for that education is in our public schools. But we cannot expect good results if we are content to leave our children in the hands of teachers whose salaries are under the level of wages paid truck drivers. A teacher who is underpaid, as many of them are, cannot be expected to have too much zest for impressing young minds with the advantages of an economic system which pays an educator less than an unskilled laborer.

ORDER MUST BE KEPT
(Detroit News)

However little the wisdom and restraint they have displayed to date, all parties to the unfortunate Rose City controversy are entitled to the law's protection. If there is no law in Rose City it should be brought in without delay by the State Police who are empowered to intervene.

This is quite apart from the merits of the cases of the feuding camps. Their differences they can resolve for themselves, under the rules provided for preserving the peace. It is too late to reflect with any profit that the exercise of a little discretion and forbearance on both sides anywhere along the line might have spared the community its distress and unhappy notoriety. It is not too soon to get in hand such activities as those of Wednesday night, which invade the rights of citizens. If Rose City has no means to maintain the peace, the State should provide it.

Take My Word For It

WORDS TO WATCH

Overheard on a Hollywood broadcast: "...descended on us en masse-AY." The French phrase en masse means "in a body or mass." The final "e" of masse is silent, or, as the French say, muet (mute). In the French pronunciation, en has the nasal sound, and masse is like the English word mass, thus: ah(n) MASS.

However, in best American usage the phrase is Anglicized in pronunciation, en rhyming with "pen," and masse rhyming with pass (flat "a"), thus: en MASS.

On a recent broadcast, a well-known ex-governor repeatedly said "jen-yoo-wine" for genuine. The "wine" in genuine has no sanction as far back as my oldest dictionary goes. The third syllable should rhyme with "bin, fin," thus: JEN-yoo-in.

On still another broadcast, a prominent speaker pronounced the "h" in archives,

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — Bang, bang, Cr-r-r-rash! That is the sound of the Republican party, virtually the entire American press and at least part of the Democratic party coming down on the man in the White House for his veto of that labor bill.

Childs

Given White House strategy on the labor bill, President Truman has very little choice in the matter. You can argue that the strategy was wrong and events may prove that it was mistaken. But once the Ives-Taft-Hartley bill came to his desk, he had to veto it.

He had to veto it because he had deliberately refrained from working with Congress to get the kind of bill he might have approved. That was administration policy from top to bottom. The expectation was that, given enough rope, the extremist Republicans would write a bill so crudely restrictive that no president could sign it.

Senator Ives of New York got in the way of that strategy. On his insistence, the final bill was more moderate than the intentions of Senators Taft and Ball. And, equally important, it was made to sound far more "reasonable" than in reality it was. The President's veto message pointed to many obstacles in the way of fair and free collective bargaining under the bill. They are obstacles that, in many instances, have the look of calculated booby traps laid for organized labor.

—NOT EXACTLY POLITICS—

The charge of politics brought against the President was inevitable. Anyone who is frank about it must admit that the whole procedure on every side, from beginning to end, was riddled with the politics of a pre-election year.

Looking at it objectively, however, you must conclude that if politics had been the primary consideration, it would have been smarter to have signed or to have let it become law without a signature. The President could have written a message pointing out the weaknesses of the omnibus bill and expressing his doubts as to its workability. Then he might have added that because this was the will of the majority, he was reluctantly permitting it to become law.

It is true that the extreme left of labor was waiting hopefully for such a move. They would have taken it as the signal for a third-party move. Moscow has given the nod for such a move, and fellow travelers are its most active promoters, hoping to mobilize those who are genuinely disillusioned with the two old parties.

But a veto of the labor bill is not likely to win this crowd to active support of Mr. Truman. Their touchstone is foreign policy. The real aim of a third party formed under the auspices of those who now seem likely to back it will be to prevent the carrying out of a constructive foreign policy such as Secretary Marshall has advocated.

Nor is the President likely to win many recruits from the right of labor in the A. F. of L. That camp is dominated by John L. Lewis and there are more and more indications that Lewis has made a deal with Governor Thomas E. Dewey. In any event, the doughty Lewis will try to swing all the votes he can away from Truman.

—WOULD HAVE BEEN HERO—

By approving the bill, the President would have become the hero of a large section of the press. They would have acclaimed him for his "cooperation," and he would undoubtedly have found it easier to gain acceptance for his foreign program.

Certainly Mr. Truman has no reason to love the labor leaders who were beseeching him for a veto. He has repeatedly been harassed by strikes, and leaders such as A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have denounced him in the most violent language.

He must, it seems to me, be given credit for expressing his sincere belief. Or, rather, he accepted the recommendations of his foremost experts in this field. Among those who urged a veto were Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach, Paul Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, and Secretary of Interior Julius Krug. They were ably seconded by the President's close adviser, Clark Clifford.

The weakness of the President's position is that he did not reaffirm his belief in the measures necessary to correct flagrant trade-union abuses and the basic inequities of the Wagner Act. He merely referred to the stand he has taken in the past. But no matter what he had said, the fierce winds of politics were certain to assail a veto.

thus: AHRK-hives." I have also heard it as "AHR-chives"—ch as in "church." The correct pronunciation is: AHR-kives.

Such instances as these—mispronunciations by people of good education—are by no means exceptional. It makes one wonder where the fault lies. Is it because we Americans are poorly taught? Is it because our dictionaries are hard to understand? Or is our language so difficult and complex that few of us can ever hope to learn it completely? I am inclined to believe that it is a combination of all three.

This column, therefore, will keep trying to smooth out some of the rough spots in the linguistic road which we must travel.

Watch the word acumen, "acuteness of mind." Not "AK-yoo-men." The word (acure, "to sharpen") that gives us the word acute. Place the accent on the second syllable: uh-KEW-men.

The word homily means "a discourse or sermon." It should not be pronounced like "homely" which it resembles. Homily is a three-syllable word. The first syllable rhymes with "Tom." Say: HOM-i-lee.

Splitting the local tax millage between the county and the schools and the townships is an annual event with explosive possibilities as great as splitting the atom.

Dunathan

Unless you are fairly well informed on tax matters, you probably do not know that a state amendment limits the total local tax millage to 15 mills. This limitation was adopted in 1932. We believe, in a state-wide referendum that carried by a large majority.

It is the responsibility of tax allocation boards in Delta county and other counties to divide the 15 mills between the county, the city and township schools, and the townships. This is done each spring, and the allocation squabble blooms perennially along with skunk cabbage, stinkweed and other disagreeable manifestations of nature.

THE TAX APPLE—The whole trouble with the 15-mill limitation is that the cost of operating and maintaining the schools and the county has gone up. The 15 mills haven't changed since the deep days of the depression.

In other words the tax apple is too small, although it has been enlarged by increasing the county's total valuation. But there is a limit on size, even in apples, and the property valuations in Delta county are now at the peak recommended by the state tax commission.

Okay, so the apple is to be divided. It must be split so that the county gets a slice, the schools get a slice, and the townships get a slice. And when the slicing is accomplished the pieces are never big enough to satisfy the needs of the schools and the county. So far as the majority of the townships are concerned, they have few needs and some of them have so much money now on hand that they take their slice of the apple and throw it away, having no use for it.

BUDGET TROUBLES—Before it begins operating on the tax apple, the allocation board first examines the needs of the schools, the county and the townships as represented in their budget estimates for the coming year.

If the budgets are larger than the slice of tax revenue they will receive, it means that the budget must be pared down.

Such was the case with the county budget and the budget of the Escanaba city schools. There was nothing wrong with the budgets, you understand. It was just a case of obesity and a little fat had to be trimmed away. The trimming hurt but it was necessary.

ONLY SO FAR—Since the tax money will only go so far and revenues will only cover the essentials, the county and the Escanaba city schools must both look for ways of economizing—if such it may be called. Both the schools and the county claim they had budgets pared to the core, but when it became necessary they found ways and means of cutting off a little more.

The Escanaba city schools, for instance, are expected to run on the budget of an item of $3,150 for adult night school. This does not mean that the adult education program will be discontinued, but

Rains, floods and windstorms over four states accounted today for the loss of a dozen lives, injury to more than 25 persons and eviction of hundreds from their homes, farms, shops and factories.

Washington—A new child labor amendment, authorizing congress to forbid commercial employment of persons under 16 years of age reached the senate floor today.

Work will begin immediately on the new William Bonifas Memorial building at the corner of First avenue south and Seventh street, it was announced yesterday by Rev. Fr. Edward Leary, O. F. M., pastor of St. Joseph's church following awarding of the general building contract to A. M. Arntzen of this city.

All arrangements are complete for the annual Upper Peninsula Fishermen's Party to be held at the Coliseum at 8 o'clock Wednesday night under the auspices of the Escanaba Lions Club.

that if it is continued the students will have to pay a much larger share, perhaps all, of the cost of its operation. The largest item is $3,000 for the payment of adult night school teachers' salaries.

QUESTIONS—At the county tax allocation board meeting in the court house Friday morning there was considerable discussion of the school and county budgets. School men questioned items in the county budget, and the county men questioned items in the school budget.

John Lemmer, Escanaba superintendent of schools, on hand to explain the city school budget although not a member of the tax board, questioned whether the county shouldn't use the $20,000 in Escanaba surpluses for county operating costs. C. W. Stoll, county board finance chairman, replied that many of the supervisors feel that the funds should be held in reserve for the time when a new court house will be necessary.

"The schools need new buildings, too," observed Supt. Lemmer.

"Then I would suggest that the question of bonding city taxpayers for a school building fund be submitted to them for a vote," Stoll said.

THE LONE VOICE—Mayor Marvin Coon of Escanaba, member of the tax board, asked information about the school's budget item for adult education.

Supt. Lemmer said the people of the Escanaba and the county "de-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington — Speaking of Truman's Kansas City pals, one inside story of the Potsdam conference can now be told. When the President left for Potsdam he took with him several old friends, including White House Court ing White House Court Jester George Allen and Fred Canfield, U. S. Marshall in Kansas City.

Pearson

Canfield was Truman's field artillery sergeant in world war I and his appointment as U. S. Marshall was one of the first Truman made after he became President.

In Potsdam Truman entertained Generalissimo Stalin one afternoon at tea, in the course of which he introduced his friends and aides to the Soviet Chief of State.

"Marshal Stalin," said the President, "I want you to meet Marshal Canfield of Kansas City."

Stalin put on his most charming smile and gave Canfield an unusually big "Hello."

About an hour after the tea, Canfield received a phone call from Stalin's aide inviting him to a special reception at Soviet headquarters, where the U. S. Marshall was informed he was to receive the order of Suvorov, the order of Lenin and the order of the Red Army, in recognition of his services as Marshal of the United States.

When embarrassed Harry Truman got wind of this, he tried to explain to Stalin that Canfield was not a Marshal of the United States Army, but only the marshal serving in the United States court house in Kansas City. Stalin couldn't quite understand the distinction.

"Well, the point is," concluded President Truman, "that we have 125 marshals in the United States. If you give all these medals to only one of them, the other 124 will be highly insulted, and you wouldn't want to do that."

So Marshal Stalin dropped the idea of honoring U. S. Marshal Fred Canfield of Kansas City.

—DEWEY ON FENCE—

It was highly significant that Governor Dewey kept his lips buttoned on the Taft-Hartley bill, and here is one factor which may have influenced him: Dewey received some flattering secret advice from John L. Lewis which carried an inferential promise of labor support in 1948.

Here is the background of what happened. After President Truman's "State of the Union" message last January proposing moderate changes in the Wagner Labor Act, AFL President William Green issued a statement approving the labor passages of Truman's speech.

But despite this, the AFL council meeting in Miami a few days later reversed Green, and passed a resolution vigorously denouncing Truman's idea. It was no secret that Lewis wrote this AFL denunciation.

Later when Minnesota's Senator Joe Ball and Ohio's Senator Taft went much further than Truman with their anti-labor bills, John L. Lewis and his pal, Big Bill Hutcheson, head of the Carpenter's Union, paid Taft a secret visit, warning him that as a candidate for the presidency, he could not afford to be too anti-labor. Taft, they reported to friends later, seemed to agree.

"Suppose we get together after the hearings on labor legislation are over," Taft was reported as saying. "Then we can arrive at mutually satisfactory legislation. I'm sure if you wait until then, we can work out something satisfactory to both of us."

However, after the labor hearings were over, Lewis and Hutcheson got nowhere with Taft. This caused John L. to hit the ceiling. And at the next AFL council meeting he told AFL colleagues that they must destroy Taft.

Several weeks later when it became clear that the Taft-Hartley bill had a fair chance of passing, Lewis and Hutcheson sent word to Dewey urging him to stay on the fence regarding the Taft-Hartley bill. Lewis warned that if Dewey supported the bill he would be cutting his own throat with labor; and the implication was that if he kept quiet Dewey might have a good chance of gathering labor support.

REPUBLICANS APPEASE FARMERS

Senate Republicans have compared notes backstage regarding the sharp house cuts in agriculture appropriations, and have decided that their GOP colleagues on the other side of the capital went too far. House economy, they conclude, may save dollars but will lose votes.

The most significant remark was dropped by powerful GOP policy maker Bob Taft in a private conversation with close colleagues.

"I think the house's 32 per cent cut is too much," he revealed. "I would say ten per cent is about right."

Another backstage discussion took place between Democratic Senator Dick Russell of Georgia and Republican George Aiken of Vermont.

"One thing I won't compromise on," declared Russell who is one of the farmers' most vigorous senate champions, "is soil conservation. If the committee doesn't restore it in full, I can promise a tremendous fight on the floor."

He predicted that the Democrats would back him solidly.

"All except Harry Byrd. I'm not sure about Byrd," Russell added.

It is general senate opinion that the bill will be contested item by item on the senate floor unless the appropriations committee reduces the house cuts by at least 17 per cent. Rather than risk their traditional support in midwest farming areas, Republican leaders are likely to agree to healthy restorations.

NO PROMISES, ZIEGLER SAYS

M-35 In Delta County
Must Wait, Advises
Highway Chief

Improvement by paving highway M-35 in Delta county must wait until finances are available, State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said yesterday in Escanaba. In the morning he conferred with an Escanaba Chamber of Commerce committee and at noon addressed the Escanaba Rotary club.

"We can make no promises," the commissioner said. "We will add to the work on M-35 as rapidly as finances are available, and the speed of our postwar program will depend upon whether costs advance still more or not."

Ziegler directed attention to the work being done in Menominee county, where the paving of five and one-half miles of the route is now under way, and pointed out that since 1943 the cost of highway construction has nearly doubled.

The highway commissioner was introduced at the Rotary club meeting by J. T. Sharpsteen, Delta county road commission superintendent-engineer. Present among the guests at the meeting were Harry Greene of Garden, chairman of the county road commission; Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone, commission member; Supervisor Harold Gustafson of Ensign township, and Supervisor Omer Tanguay of Bark River.

The state highway commissioner outlined the history of his department, and discussed its finances. He said that revenue dropped nearly $44 million during the war years while an increase in maintenance costs was necessary.

Complimenting the county road commissions, Ziegler said state highway department contracts with the counties for the maintenance of state trunklines proves economical and advantageous both to the state and the counties.

Ziegler said "it is the policy of the department not to by-pass communities with our highways" because of the importance of the tourist industry to the communities. From Escanaba the commissioner will go to Houghton to attend an Upper Peninsula conference of county road commissioners and engineers.

Charles E. Potter,
Congress Candidate,

Potter received his A. B. degree in sociology from the University of Michigan, and prior to entering the military service was employed as administrator in the bureau of social aid. Following his discharge from service he has been vocational rehabilitation representative for the U. S. Department of Labor in Washington, D. C. He is married.

From Escanaba he will go to Menominee county on his tour of the district prior to the special primary, in which Republican and Democratic parties will nominate candidates who will seek election to fill the office left vacant at the death of Rep. Fred Bradley.

Stanley Fontanna Is Vice President Of State Foresters

Stanley Fontanna, Michigan state forester, was elected vice president of the Association of State Foresters, which concluded its 25th annual meeting at Yosemite National Park, California, June 19.

Other new officers elected by the organization include: C. H. Flory, South Carolina, president; A. Raymond Kienholz, Connecticut, secretary; N. S. Rogers, Oregon, and Ralph A. Wilcox, Indiana, members of the executive committee. Wilcox presided over the Yosemite sessions as 1947 president.

How to increase production of timber from farm woodlots and other small ownerships, which comprise nearly 60 per cent of all commercial tree-growing lands in this country, was the primary objective before the state foresters. They urged changes in various laws designed to make available to such owners greater facilities for education and services in forestry.

The 1948 meeting of the State Foresters will be held in Michigan.

The vows were spoken in a double ring ceremony before Rev. Fr. Leo Binder at an 8 o'clock nuptial high mass. Bernard St. Dennis, soloist, sang "Ave Maria," "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," and "Jesus, Thou Art Coming." Mrs. Bomber, organist, played the traditional bridal marches.

Satin And Chiffon Gown

The bride's gown was fashioned with a white satin bodice, with tiny buttons down the back to the waist, sweetheart neckline, leg of mutton sleeves which extended in points over the wrist, and a full skirt of chiffon over satin, which formed a long train. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. Her finger-tip veil was caught to a crown of seedpearls and clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and white gladioli. Her attendants wore identical gowns, the matron of honor's of blue and the bridesmaid's of pink and blue. They were made with fitted bodices, sweetheart necklines, short full sleeves and full skirts. Matching headresses and bouquets of pink carnations completed their ensembles.

Mrs. DeGrand, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black frock with white accessories and corsage of white carnations.

Honeymoon In Canada

A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home and a dinner at the Chateau hotel in Peabody. The three-tiered wedding cake, encircled with pink emeralds, centered the bridal table. A reception for 250 guests followed the dinner.

Following a honeymoon in Canada, the couple will be at home at 1818 Leaven avenue, in Marquette.

The bride, a graduate of Marquette high school, is employed by the Ford Manufacturing company. Her husband, a graduate of Escanaba high school, is flight instructor at the M. & M. Aviation company in Menominee.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. J. DeGrand and Charles Donald Francis, Ralph and Elaine and Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeGrand. Escanaba, Mrs. A. Bannerman, Milwaukee; Mrs. J. C. Albrecht, St. Paul and Mrs. Fred DeGrand and son, Lionel, Escanaba.

Used cooking fats have represented a substantial part of our total industrial fat supply. The more than 600 million pounds of used fats that American homemakers have saved and turned in since 1942 has been of vital importance. It is a record of which every woman who contributed may well be very proud.

The United States still lacks adequate supplies of fats and oils. And we are particularly short of industrial fats. Many, if not most, of the things we all use and wear require industrial fats, or the products of industrial fats, such as soaps and glycerine, in their manufacture.

So won't you keep up your good work and continue to save and turn in every possible pound of used fat?

AIRPLANES ON INCREASE HERE

Washington, D. C. (WNS) — Delta County enthusiasts are among the front-runners in the often-predicted post war air boom, it was learned at the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

According to CAA the number of registered civil aircraft in Delta County increased 62 per cent during 1946, the first complete post-war year. Meanwhile during the same period the number of registered civil aircraft increased 56 per cent all over the country, and 60 per cent in Michigan.

During the war, as the armed services were training thousands of youths to fly military planes, a tremendous upswing in private and commercial flying was predicted, with the continued interest in flying shown by World War I aviators as the barometer. This expected boom — which CAA's report bears out — was partial justification for the authorization of a huge federal aid airport construction program. CAA officials told the Congress that in addition to increasing and improving the landing facilities for commercial aircraft, there existed a large need for smaller airports for feeder traffic and for "air-parks" for small private planes.

Civil Aeronautics Authority registered eight civil aircraft in Delta County at the beginning of 1946 and the number increased to 13 at the end of the year.

Some of these planes may be grounded, however, by the end of the month. The planes themselves will not be grounded, but some of the area's private pilots will be. During the war, CAA did not renew private pilot licenses. All such licenses issued before the war must be renewed by June 30 or they become void. Names and

OUTDOOR HIWATHALAND

Big Day

While the opening of trout season is a red letter day on the angler's calendar, it is June 25 that is the BIG day of the Michigan angler's season. It is the day when Mom and the kids and most of the state's fishermen come into the season for black bass, bluegills and sunfish.

After Wednesday fishermen may set the hook at every bite, secure in the knowledge that any fish they land is a "keeper" so long as it meets the size limits.

With the opening of the bass and panfish season the Daily Press fishing contest classes for small and large mouth black bass, bluegills and sunfish also open. Entry blanks may be obtained at the Daily Press office in Escanaba, the branch offices in Gladstone, Marquette and Munising or by mail by addressing a request to the Outdoor Editor.

One of the exciting contests of the day, sponsored by the Rambler Bicycle company, brought F. W. Hanson and Mr. Aronson much envied medals, for riding 3,000 miles within a few months. They started with new bicycles equipped with speedometers which registered both speed and mileage, and at the end of the 3,000 miles, furnished their sponsors with a detailed report of the test.

Bicycle racing, the fore-runner of the six-day bike races of today, was an exciting and popular sport then.

It was the hobby of all amateurs who could afford a racing bike, which in those days cost the amount $125, as well as the business of the professionals.

Many of the events between the traveling professionals and the Escanaba amateurs were run off at the old race track which was located southwest of the present Escanaba Athletic Field.

Walleyes Still Lead

Walleye pike still continue to lead all other classes in number of entries in the fishing contest.

Largest of those entered during the past week are: Eugene Marenge's (202 Stephenson ave., Escanaba) 9½ pound, 33½ inches long and 15 inches in girth, caught near the On-a-Bay cabins; Wm. Bowden, 513 S. 8th st., entered a 9½ pound, 27½ inches long and 16 inches in girth, caught off Breezy point and Glen Larsen, 323 N. 16th st., entered a 9 pound, 6 ounce walleye, 31½ inches long and 15½ inches in girth, caught off the mouth of Ford River. All three fish were caught on June 3rd spinners and worms.

One new class leader was included in the week's entries. It was a 3½ pound brown trout, 22½ inches in length and 9½ inches in girth, caught by Jim Rouman of Escanaba on a dry fly from the Sturgeon river. Ed La Rose of Gulliver caught a 2½ pound brook trout, 17½ inches long and 9 inches in girth on worms in the Millecoquin river over in Mackinac county.

Knots

A new 44-page booklet of interest to fishermen—"Knots and How To Tie Them with Du Pont Nylon Leader Material"—has just been published by the Du Pont company, manufacturers of the nylon filament from which so many leaders are made today.

Every type of knot useful to the fisherman is discussed and explained. More than 45 illustrations are included.

The booklet also gives a very thorough resume of the characteristics of leaders made of nylon, when and where they should be used under varying conditions.

Fishermen may obtain the booklet free by writing the Du Pont Company, Plastics Department, Arlington, New Jersey.

Speed Planting

Trout fishermen who have had all too few days on the streams because of the backward spring are assured more fish in the streams for the balance of the season.

The conservation department has announced a speeding up of its planting program in an effort to place 1,000,000 legal-sized trout in state waters before Labor Day.

The conditions that kept the fishermen from the streams also hampered the early efforts to plant trout. About one-fifth of the program is completed although two-fifths of the trout season has slipped by.

Upper Peninsula waters have received 28,300 brook trout, 9,200 browns and 400 rainbows in April and May.

Cycling Was Popular Back In Gay Nineties

By Vic Powers

Big Day

Cycling, which has returned to general popularity in recent years, was one of the chief modes of rapid transportation in Escanaba and vicinity back in the Gay Nineties.

Every Sunday afternoon would see scores of cyclists on the gravel roads in Delta county. Escanaba had a bicycle club, which was affiliated with the American Bicycle League and frequently sponsored racing meets.

To make six or seven journeys as far as Ford River in one day, was a small matter for the enthusiasts, and among the record trips were those made by the veterans, P. A. Aronson, who went to Menominee and back, pedalling the round trip, and Mr. Bolger who made at least four trips to Waterloo, Wisconsin, his old family home.

One of the exciting contests of the day, sponsored by the Rambler Bicycle company, brought F. W. Hanson and Mr. Aronson much envied medals, for riding 3,000 miles within a few months. They started with new bicycles equipped with speedometers which registered both speed and mileage, and at the end of the 3,000 miles, furnished their sponsors with a detailed report of the test.

Nahma Young Man Suffers Broken Neck From Dive

Emery Menary, 23, of Nahma, is in the Shaw hospital suffering from a broken neck which he suffered while swimming Sunday afternoon in Little Fishdam river about 20 miles west of here.

Menary, Frank Lake and Lester LaBumbard, of Nahma, had been fishing along the river and later decided to go swimming. The young man dived off of the Highway US-2 bridge and is believed to have hit the water with considerable force. His companions became alarmed when he stayed under for a long period and brought him to shore where they learned that his body was entirely paralyzed.

Trooper Otto Buelow, of the local station, assisted and a short time later, Dr. G. O. Graham, of the Ford hospital, Detroit, who had been fishing near there arrived. Floorboards from a nearby boat were appropriated to give support to the injured spine. The ambulance was called and he was taken to the hospital. His condition is regarded as extremely serious.

99 More Children Of School Age In Schoolcraft County

There was an increase of 99 in the number of children of school age in rural Schoolcraft county in the past year, according to a census recently taken under the direction of Mrs. Ada Watson, county commissioner of schools.

The figures show that in the county the number of boys between ages of 5 and 19 is 712 and girls, 596, making a total of 1308 as compared with 1209 last year.

Children up to four years old number 417, 210 boys and 207 girls.

The purpose of this census is to determine the amount of state aid the schools of the county are entitled to, as each pupil is the basis for so much state aid. The census was taken by school appointees in each township.

The rural school census, broken up into each township unit is as follows:

NEWBERRY MAN BRAWL VICTIM

Statement Before Death Implicates Resident Of Soo

Carl Edward Carlson, Luce Hotel, Newberry, died in a hospital at Newberry Saturday evening several hours after he had been found lying along the roadside of Highway M-28 about 18 miles east of here.

Nelson Joseph Shampine, of Sault Ste. Marie, is being held by Chippewa county authorities, facing the possible charge of having beaten and robbed Carlson and abandoning him.

Shampine, Mrs. Maria Bouley and two of Shampine's nieces, all of Sault Ste. Marie, were in Newberry Saturday visiting at the home of Mrs. Clayton Shampine, according to Shampine. He admits that there had been a drinking party in which Carlson had participated. On their way back to Sault Ste. Marie, Shampine, who was driving, stopped the car just east of the Chippewa county line to fix a flat tire, it was reported. One of the girls said Carlson was taking liberties with another girl and was interrupted by Shampine, who it is alleged, dragged Carlson out of the car, kicked him and beat him.

Although Carlson was in a dazed condition when found, he was able to name his assailant.

Shampine and members of his party are being held by the Chippewa county authorities. Formal charges, however, have not as yet been lodged.

SENEY SOLDIER DIES IN ITALY

Gunshot Wounds Fatal To Private Francis W. Faulkner

Pvt. Francis "Frank" W. Faulkner, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faulkner of Watersmeet, former resident of Seney, died of gunshot wounds June 9, according to word received here by his great grandmother, Mrs. James Downing, of Manistique.

Word of his death came from Leghorn, Italy, where the young man was stationed with the 349th company, Regular Army, 88th division. Details of the tragic death are meager. It was reported that he was shot in the head, presumably accidentally.

Frank was born in Thompson April 24, 1922, and moved to Seney with his parents when he was five. He attended Seney schools. He entered Army service Nov. 10, 1942, and was sent overseas in Nov. 1944 where he was assigned to duty in Italy.

Surviving him are a son, Milan Charles, of Pontiac; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faulkner, of Watersmeet; a brother, S-Sgt. Robert H. Faulkner, in the Army Air Force, Washington, D. C.; two sisters, Anita and Vonda Lee, at home and his great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Downing, of Manistique.

The body will be sent to Manistique for burial in Fairview cemetery.

Construction In Warsaw Will Be Pushed By Poles

Warsaw, Poland, (AP)—The Polish government has earmarked $72,920,000 for speeding up the reconstruction of war-ravaged Warsaw this year.

Plans call for the building of 10,000 new homes and apartments to relieve the acute housing shortage.

Warsaw presently has a population of 344,000. The pre-war figure was 1,289,000. Today, because of the house-to-house destruction carried out during the war by the Germans, as many as four to six Poles live in a single room. Living space is allotted in the first instance to those who are working to help rebuild Warsaw.

Marquette Bluejays Hand Iron Mountain 1st Loss Of Season

Marquette, June 23—Behind the effective hurling of Chauncey "Mink" St. Germaine, former Northern Michigan College of Education star athlete, the Marquette Bluejays surprised their supporters and the opposition by handing the league-leading Iron Mountain Chippewas their first defeat of the season here yesterday afternoon. The score was 10 to 5.

Marquette Bluejays Hand Iron Mountain 1st Loss Of Season

By accomplishing this feat, the Bluejays gained considerable prestige in the Northern Wisconsin-Michigan circuit. The Chippewas are the powerhouse of the league. They have defeated every team in the loop, some of them twice, but it took an uprising of the lowly Bluejays to block the Chippewa warpath.

Heavy clouding also was responsible for the triumph. Marquette hit safely 12 times, to 13 for the Chippies, but five of those 12 were extra-base blows. Gordon Olson set the pace with a homer.

Harbert, Ferrier Meet In Finals Of National PGA Today

The two newcomers to the doorstep of the throne room of big time golfdom battle it out tomorrow over Plum Hollow's rugged terrain for the title surrendered in the first match play round by little Ben Hogan.

Ferrier, playing with almost maddening deliberation, gave Art Bell of Colma, Calif., a 10 and 9 beating, and whipped him by nine strokes in the semi-finals today.

Harbert, although scrambling much of the time, tured back Vic Ghezzi, the 1941 champion from Kansas City, by 6 and 5, ripping five strokes off even figures.

PETRILLO GIVES IN TO THE LAW

Act Held Constitutional; FM Stations Ask For Musical Program

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The act Congress aimed at James C. Petrillo and his AFL American Federation of Musicians was held constitutional today by the supreme court in a 5-3 vote.

Immediately:

1. The FM (frequency modulation) association asked the four major networks to make their musical programs available to the 241 FM stations it represents.
2. A House labor subcommittee got ready to investigate Petrillo and his union at hearings to start probably next week. It is headed by Rep. Kearns (R-Pa.), a member of the union, and has been assembling evidence for weeks but has held off while the court was considering the case.
3. At Chicago, Petrillo told newsmen, "The supreme court has spoken. This is my country and the supreme court makes the final rulings on its laws. No one will ever say Jim Petrillo fought his country or the supreme court. I thought that I had the best fight I knew how, the supreme court has spoken and I bow to its dictates."

Briefly Told

Meeting and Dinner—U. P. store managers of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission will meet in the Escanaba offices of the commission with the members of the commission today. In the evening the group will hold a whitish dinner at the Delta hotel beginning at 6:30. There are 17 store managers in the U. P. territory.

Lowell Man Injured On Head, Disappears On Way To Doctor

Yorkville, Ill., June 23 (AP)—Police of several midwestern states today were hunting traces of Newton Grimwood, 28, formerly of Yorkville, who disappeared June 12 when he left his home in Lowell, Mich., for Grand Rapids to have a head injury treated.

His father, Harlan W. Grimwood, Bristol township supervisor, said the young man was working at the Lowell Creamery company, of which he is proprietor, when a falling brick struck him on the head.

Explaining of pain, Grimwood started to hitchhike to Grand Rapids, 20 miles away, to have the wound treated at a hospital.

The Lowell village President Peter Speerstra, gave him a ride part of the way and reported Grimwood kept "rubbing his head and appeared dazed," the elder Grimwood said. He last was seen boarding a bus for Grand Rapids.

Grimwood, father of two baby sons, was graduated from Blackburn college, Carlinville, Ill., in 1937 and the University of Illinois in 1941. He served with the Navy as a lieutenant (J. G.)

STRIKE CURBS ADOPTED OVER TRUMAN VETO

ed with the present $9,975 but Van Arkel said he does not want it.

Today's ballot compared with votes of 68 to 24 on May 13 when the Senate originally passed its labor bill, and 54 to 17 on June 6 when the Senate passed the final compromise version worked out with the House.

New Era Opened

That Chamber had voted to override the veto on Friday, as soon as it was delivered, by 331 to 83, nearly 4 to 1.

So the Taft-Hartley act of 1947 took its place in the law books beside the Wagner act of 1935 and a new era of labor-management relations in America was born.

Its first phases seem bound to be marked by disputes and litigation—as were those of the Wagner act—as unions and employers test out the new act's terms. The supreme court in the end will have to decide what many of them mean, as it did with the Wagner act and even still is doing a decade afterwards.

Provisions which the courts are likely to be asked to clarify particularly are those dealing with union security, damage liability of unions for jurisdictional strikes and breach of contract, and "unfair" practices by unions.

The new law bans the closed shop, under which non-unionists may not be hired, but permits the union shop with certain restrictions. In a union shop, non-unionists may be hired but then must join up.

Appointments First
It also imposed a long string of restrictions of union activities which have sprung up under the Wagner act.

Few, if any, of its sponsors claimed it would work without some controversy. But where the President and its other foes called it entirely unworkable and worse, its advocates contended it would bring the power of unions and employers into better balance and promote industrial peace.

The first thing now will be for the President to appoint two more members for the three-man National Labor Relations board, which will administer some sections of the Taft-Hartley act along with the Wagner act. He also must name the new general council for the board. These appointments must be confirmed by the Senate.

The Senate and House, too have appointments to make—to a 14-member joint committee which is to study the whole field of industrial relations with an eye to further legislation if necessary. The committee also is expected to act as the "watchdog" of Congress, in the word of Taft, to study the working of the Taft-Hartley act. Senator Ball (R-Minn.) is reported the choice of Senate Republicans to head it.

Soon, also, might come a big test of the provision designed to cope with nationwide strikes affecting public health or safety. It could come with a soft coal walk-out which seems likely to occur next month because the government must restore the seized mines to private hands June 30 and the operators and John L. Lewis have no contract.

The new law provides that the government may seek an injunction to block a big strike for 30 days. During that time an inquiry board would get busy, and the NLRB would hold a secret ballot election among the strikers to see whether they wanted to accept the employers' last offer despite its rejection by their leaders.

Mr. Truman contended this would not work and "the country would be in for a bitter disappointment." He held it would only postpone the coal strike until cold weather, when its effects would be worse. Even though the bill now is law, it would be up to him whether to try to use this provision or not.

Lobbying Criticized
There remained a formality of Senate officials certifying their action on the bill to the secretary of state. But it actually became law when the Senate roll call was completed with the "yea" of Senator Young (R-ND), last name on the alphabetical list.

Young was one of a dozen senators summoned to a White House luncheon and conference Friday by the President in the vain hope that the Senate might stop the overriding action the House even then had begun. All of them, except Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.), were senators who favored the bill.

And all of them, except Barkley and Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), voted today to override the veto.

The President's parley with the senators drew criticism on the House floor today from Rep. Arends (Ill.), the Republican whip. He raised a question whether it constituted lobbying under terms of the act which requires lobbyists to register.

Arends also demanded to know whether Philip Murray, president of the CIO, is "registered as a lobbyist." Arends reported that labor organizations spent $1,000,000 in their campaign against the bill.

The Senate debated for three more hours before taking its vote eight minutes after 2 p. m. (CDT), the hour agreed upon by unanimous consent Saturday when a filibuster by last-ditch foes of the bill broke down.

NO CLOSED SHOPS

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Final passage of the Taft-Hartley bill today made it the law that unions:

May be sued by employers for breach of contract and for damages in jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts.

Are required by law to bargain collectively with employers.

May not compel employers to hire only union members, but still may enter into agreement providing that all employees join the union under certain conditions.

More Mines Close Due To Confusion On Labor Measure

(By The Associated Press)

More than a score of mines were closed in three states today within a few hours of the Senate vote overriding President Truman's veto of the labor bill. More than 14,500 of the nation's 400,000 coal miners were idled.

Pennsylvania had 7,200 miners off the job, Alabama 6,000 and West Virginia 1,300.

No union spokesman would comment on the closings. Seven pits were shut down in southwestern Pennsylvania.

A Jones & Laughlin spokesman attributed stoppages at the firm's mines to "confusion" among groups of miners following the Senate's action. He said there appeared to be "no concerted action" on the part of the coal diggers as a whole.

Alabama reported at least a dozen mines closed, among them the two largest in the state.

Three mines were idle in West Virginia, under conditions explained neither by management nor the union.

Schoolboy Shoots It Out With Police In Park At Boston

Boston, June 23 (AP)—An undersized school boy who had been hiding out from police four days emptied a pistol at two patrolmen today, then sized another youth at gunpoint to serve as a human shield while for more than ten minutes he held off a growing force of riot squad reserves.

The 15-year-old gunman, his pistol pressed against the right hip of his equally young "shield," was overpowered finally by a policeman who crept up and clubbed him over the head with the butt of a riot gun as he sought to climb a fence and escape.

Police Capt. John H. Cloran identified the slight youth—standing five feet one inch tall and weighing 98 pounds—as Edward Bancroft, a seventh grade student at Patrick Campbell school with a record of several juvenile offenses.

Frank Cushing, Boston Herald-traveler photographer for 15 years, climbed into an exposed position on the roof of an ell 20 feet above Bancroft to film a record of the boy's stand behind his human shield for his paper and Associated Press wirephoto.
